A message from Father Mark

In our Gospel text, Jesus goes up to a high mountain with three of his disciples. On that mountain, Jesus is transfigured. His appearance radically changes. His face radiates power in a way that recalls Moses' encounter with God. His clothes are described as "dazzling white," as if they are a source of light. At that moment, his human appearance slips for just a second and he must have looked to his disciples like the God that he is.

Jesus was not transfigured because God wanted to put on a show, but to invite us to share in his likeness. And not in the glowing face and sparkling white garments. But to share in a love so intense that it led God into the body of a human being and to death on a tree. God invites us to partake of a love so profound that it is not afraid to descend into the valleys of despair and bring new life and hope to those who need them. So let's do as Jesus asks. Let's get up and not be afraid to let the love of Christ change us into the people that God intends for us to be.

As we begin the season of Lent this week, many of us will look for ways to grow closer to God. To deepen our faith and find new connections with our siblings in Christ. Some people will give up some things; some people will take on new things, like new spiritual practices. This year, let us also earnestly consider what is keeping us from fully embracing the likeness of Christ.

Question of the Week: What do we need to give up, what do we need to take on, that will open our hearts to allow them to be changed into the likeness of Christ's heart?

Thank you and peace,
Mark+
